Headline:
Mostly dry day with rain overnight and early tomorrow.

Today:
A dry start to the day with plenty of sunny spells, though turning cloudier as the day progresses. Patchy light rain possibly developing in the west, but most will remain dry. Less windy than of late. Maximum temperature 12 deg C (54 deg F).

Tonight:
This evening a band of light rain moves in from the west, clearing eastwards during the early hours, before another band of rain, occasionally heavy, arrives from the northwest later. Minimum temperature 7 deg C (45 deg F).

Tuesday:
Early tomorrow will see rain spreading in across the north and west, easing into the afternoon. Mostly dry elsewhere and generally brighter later. A mostly clear evening. Maximum temperature 16 deg C (61 deg F).

Outlook for Wednesday to Friday:
Wednesday dry with sunny spells. Some overnight rain clearing southwestwards to brighter skies and a few showers on Thursday. Friday mostly dry and bright.
